Legal

- The inOne mobile prepaid young package is valid for 30 calendar days and is automatically renewed at midnight after the 30 days have elapsed, provided that there is enough credit available (e.g. purchase on 5.02.2021 at 17.00, valid until 4.03.2021 at 00.00). If there is not enough credit at the time of automatic renewal, the renewal of the package will be temporarily suspended and the usage will be charged at the base rate. As soon as there is enough credit again, the automatic renewal will be reactivated and the credit will be debited with the package price. The automatic renewal of inOne mobile prepaid young can be deactivated under cockpit.swisscom.ch.
- Services not included (e.g. calls to non-inclusive numbers) will be charged at the basic rate (e.g. calls at 29 cents/min.). If the included units for high-speed data usage (500 MB) are used up before the expiry of the validity period of 30 calendar days, you can continue surfing at a reduced speed of 128 kbit/s without limitation or an additional high-speed data package can be purchased.
- During the validity period of the inOne mobile prepaid young, the first adjustment of an inclusive number is free of charge. Each additional bill of exchange costs CHF 2 and will be debited from your credit.
- If the data inclusion units are not used up within the validity period, they will expire. The inclusive units for data are valid in the Swisscom mobile network (CH and FL).

- The included units for SMS include sending within Switzerland and from Switzerland to other countries, with the exception of paid SMS services.
- The change to another package can be ordered at any time, but the activation of the new package will only take place after the validity period of the already active combination package has expired.
- The inOne mobile prepaid young tariff is valid for normal personal use. If Swisscom can prove that the use deviates significantly from normal use or if there are indications that the SIM is being used for special applications (e.g. monitoring applications, machine-to-machine, direct dial and permanent connections), Swisscom reserves the right at any time to discontinue or restrict the provision of services or to take any other appropriate measure.
